

mony, explained to newspaper correspondents as follows:

The meaning I intended to convey when I mentioned Judge Parker was this: Judge Parker, when a candidate for the Presidency last year, did not personally ask me for campaign funds, but friends of his did so repeatedly. Judge Parker, as chairman of the State Democratic committee several years ago, did, however, accept proffered contributions to the campaign fund.

Judge Parker's interpretation of the deeper significance of these campaign contributions was in some degree corroborated by the following special dispatch from Washington to the Chicago Record-Herald, a Republican paper, in which the dispatch appeared on the 17th:

Significance attaches to the admission of Mr. Perkins that the large insurance companies paid large sums to the Republicans in the year that Theodore Roosevelt was running for President. The reason for this may be shown when the insurance lobby comes here with a bill placing all insurance business under Federal control. This bill has already been drawn and introduced in the Senate. By the same token President Roosevelt has become interested in it and has started an agitation in favor of the measure. The measure was drawn by James M. Beck, former assistant attorney general, now counsel for the Mutual Life Insurance Company; and one of its most earnest supporters is Senator Dryden, of New Jersey, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company. John A. McCall, during the national campaign of 1904, came out in favor of Roosevelt's election, although he and Alton B. Parker had been great friends. Mr. McCall was one of those who journeyed to Oyster Bay and saw the President. Since then he had been entertained at the White House. George W. Perkins is a frequent visitor at the White House, and so are important men interested in the Equitable and Mutual Life.

President Roosevelt has made no statement and Cornelius N. Bliss refuses to make any. But on the 20th it was unauthoritatively reported in the dispatches from Oyster Bay that President Roosevelt had summoned George B. Cortelyou, the chairman of the Republican campaign committee; Secretary Root, who knows intimately the machinery of the big insurance companies; Senator Lodge, his personal representative in the Senate, and Joseph H. Choate, upon whose legal knowledge he relies implicitly, to a secret conference to consider the advisability of paying back to the treasuries of life insurance companies all money contributed by them to the last campaign.

Bryan to Roosevelt on peace plans.

Apropos of the reports of President Roosevelt's services in connection with the Russian-Japanese treaty of peace (pp. 353, 357) William J. Bryan addressed him the following letter from Lincoln, Neb., on the 14th:

Circumstances have placed you in a position where, as Chief Executive of the nation, you were able to bring Russia and Japan together to effect an honorable peace. You performed your duty in a manner creditable to yourself and your country. You have been hailed as a peacemaker, and you realize how the peaceful victory thus achieved by you outshines your military exploits. Why not use your present opportunity to put on foot a movement for the establishment of permanent peace? Last winter you asked for authority to enter into agreements which would be in effect arbitration treaties, and the Senate (wisely, I believe,) refused to surrender the treaty-making power. But now, if you had been intrusted with the authority asked, you would have hesitated to submit the question involving the nation's honor, and it is not always possible to know in advance what questions may be involved. Why not ask Congress for authority to submit all international questions (when an agreement cannot be reached by the parties interested) to an impartial board for investigation and report. Investigation will, in nearly every case, reveal the cause of complaint and reconcile the parties. Questions which a nation might be unwilling to submit to arbitration in advance could be settled by investigation by an impartial international board. It was a glorious thing to end the war between Russia and Japan, but it would have been more glorious to have prevented the war and saved the frightful loss of life. The moral prestige which our nation now enjoys in all probability would enable it to lead a successful peace movement. The congratulations which you have received from the heads of European governments strengthen the chances of success. If leading nations of the world would enter into an agreement to join in the creation of such a board and pledge themselves to submit all disputes to the board, for investigation before declaring war, the danger of war would be reduced to a minimum. Few men have had it in their power to do so much for humanity. Will you improve the opportunity?

Peace conference of the Powers.

It was reported from St. Petersburg on the 18th that the Czar has issued invitations to the world Powers for a second peace conference (vol. vii, pp. 375, 475) at The Hague, and from Oyster Bay that President Roosevelt will leave to the Czar the honor of making this call; but nothing authoritative on the subject has yet been made public.

The printers' eight-hour day in Chicago.

According to the reports of the printers' union of Chicago, apparently confirmed by other circumstances, the printers' strike for an eight-hour day (p. 377) is virtually won. On the 15th agreements for an eight-hour day were reported by representatives of the union as having been signed by over 75 establishments. This number had risen to 168 on the 19th. Among these are several members of the Typothetae. The Employers' Association, of which F. W. Job is secretary, has been active in supporting the resisting establishments, but that these establishments are crippled in their work is evident and the reports of the Typographical union seem well founded. The latest general news on the subject is to the effect that these establishments are trying to utilize typewriter girls as operators of linotype machines.

Progress of the Chicago traction movement.

At the adjourned meeting of the local transportation committee of the City Council of Chicago on the 15th, held for the purpose of receiving proposals from the existing companies (p. 375), no progress was made. All the traction interests were represented, and Col. E. R. Bliss acted as their spokesman. Col. Bliss stated that he had a proposition to make, but refused to submit it, though he said:

Our proposition is along the same lines as the Mayor's contract plan, with four or five sections omitted. Write the name of the Chicago City Railway Company in it in place of the Mayor's five directors and we will accept it."

"Will you agree to give the city all the earnings but 5 per cent. and to exercise control," the Mayor asked.

"I won't answer that question, but we will accept it with sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 omitted."
